Yana Yarovaya, Client consultant
The Thompson Corporation

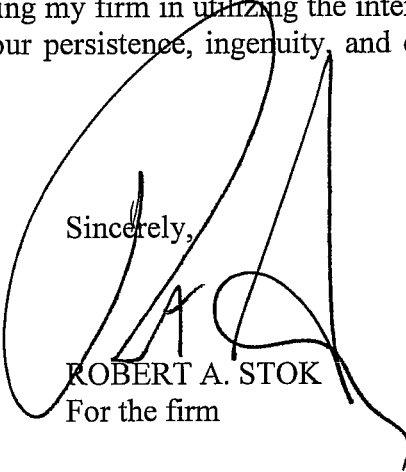

Dear Yana:

Please accept this expression of my gratitude for opening up the world of internet marketing to my law firm. Before we met, my firm provided excellent legal services to our established clients. Because of your assistance, we were able to put together a website which announced the services which my firm provides and the benefits of doing business with us. Your efforts opened up a whole new world of exposure for my firm. Before very long, we began receiving inquiries from potential clients we had never been able to reach through our existing network of contacts. These new clients provided my firm with many opportunities to expand our practice, to increase our profitability, and to be more selective in the cases which we decided to take on.

Having practiced law for twenty (20) years prior to placing our firm before public in the format which you helped us construct, it would now be unthinkable for me not to take full benefit of the exposure which you have provided to me. I am extremely grateful for your assistance and proud of the fine work that was done in assisting my firm in utilizing the internet to greatly expand out horizons. I owe this opportunity to your persistence, ingenuity, and creativity for which I am deeply grateful.

With the best of regards, I remain,

Sincerely,

ROBERT A. STOK
